Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims 1-11	YES
	Claims none	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims 2-11	YES
	Claims 1	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-11	YES
	Claims none	NO

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

The following documents identified in the International Search Report have been considered for the purpose of this report:

D1 : KR 1020030019538
D2 : DE 3536820 A1
D3 : DE 3810179 A1
D4 : EP 1063625 A1
D5 : KR 1020030059034

NOVELTY(N)

Claims 1-11 of the present invention relate to a geographic information transceiving system through a digital broadcasting network and a method thereof; and, more particularly transmitting system of claim 1 includes (1) a geographic information collecting means, (2) a geographic information processing means, (3) a digital broadcasting means, (4) a geographic information multiplexing means, and (5) a transmitting means; receiving system includes a synchronizing means, a demodulating means, a demultiplexing means, a data decoding means, a storing means, a map data managing means, and a navigation/display means.

None of the documents D1-D5 teach nor fairly suggest the geographic information transceiving system using a digital broadcasting network and a method thereof of the present invention.

Therefore, Claims 1-11 of the present invention are considered to be novel.

INVENTIVE STEP(IS)

D1 is regarded as the closet prior art to the subject matter of Claim 1 of the present invention.

In document D1, a traffic information providing system and a terminal thereof using digital data broadcasting are described, which provides real time traffic information, using digital data broadcasting in order for a user to use accurate traffic information in real time at lower costs. A data processing part collects traffic information and processes it. A broadcasting part broadcasts the processed traffic information through a ground wave digital broadcasting frequency. Next, a terminal part receives and processes the broadcasted data and then provides them to a user. And then, the traffic information data processing part processes the data, using an electronic map of the same structure as an electronic map used in each terminal. The terminal receives traffic information data through the ground wave digital data broadcasting on the basis of a stored electronic map and then displays it on the electronic map.

The following are comparisons between the technical features of claim 1 and those of D1.

(1) the geographic information collecting means and (2) the geographic information processing means of claim 1 correspond to the data processing part of D1. (3) the digital broadcasting means and (5) the transmitting means of claim 1 correspond to the broadcasting part of D1. (4) the geographic information multiplexing means, and the function of (5) the transmitting means of claim 1 is similar to the function of the terminal part of D1. Only the difference between technical features of claim 1 and those of D1 is that the same or similar functions are realized in one part or more than two parts. This is a slight design change within the scope of the customary practice followed by a person skilled in the art.

Therefore, the subject-matter of Claim 1 is considered to lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3).

INDUSTRIAL APPLICABILITY(IA)

The invention claimed in Claims 1-11 is considered to be industrially applicable.
